Attention Examiner / Gary C. Hoge,

In response to the request to amend the drawings on the said patent application, and to define the claims associated with drawings. It is apparent that the previous documents did not properly describe the invention in question, and this may result in a definite rejection of the proclaimed art. I anticipate that the amended application will meet your standards. If for some reason that this is not sufficient, I would appreciate the opportunity to be given reasonable time to adjust application.

The following are the corrections:

1. Name of patent application is change to, "Multi Mount Picture Frame". The prior name is "Ultimate Picture Frame".
2. There is no new information added, yet the wording has been altered to provide a more clear and concise operational language. You should find that the claims are direct and the description if invention is more user friendly.
3. Specification pages are labeled with numbers, instead of letters. The flow of drawings should be more systematic and easier to follow.
4. There are 8 pages, including 3 pages of drawings. A total of 10 claims that define invention.

Please except all attached pages to be replacement sheets for the said art. All pages have been labeled as "Replacement Sheet", and you should find them to comply with 37 CFR 1.84.
